

I am currently the Executive Director of GAP Institute, which is one of the leading and most influential think tanks in Kosovo. I received a BS with highest honors in Management and Entrepreneurship and Public Policy from RIT Kosovo, and through the Fulbright program, I earned an MA in Economics from Northern Illinois University, USA. As an alumna, I am involved in local projects implemented by relevant stakeholders to make positive changes to our society. I am very much interested to see the economic empowerment of women in my country, where the participation and representation of women in the labor market would help Kosovo to grow.
